Dear Constituents,

Every year, Canadians lose millions of dollars to the activities of scammers who bombard us with online, mail, door-to-door and telephone scams.

My hope is that by sending information out to my constituents, you will be able to stay on top of scams, inform yourself on how to recognize the various types of scams and protect your personal information by visiting the links I provide for you on the back.

Scammers target people of all backgrounds, ages and income levels. Scammers are imaginative and manipulative. They know how to push your buttons to produce the response they want. Below you will find some pointers to remember to help you beat the scammers.

Remember, if you spot a scam, or have been scammed, don't be embarrassed to get help. Please call my Goderich or Port Elgin office for assistance.

Sincerely,

Be Aware of Fraud

- Do not rely on glowing testimonials: find solid evidence of a company's success.
- Do not hand over money or personal information, or sign anything until you have done your homework and checked the credentials of the company that you are dealing with.
- Always get independent advice if an offer involves money, personal information, time or commitment.
- There are no guaranteed get-rich-quick schemes—sometimes the only people who make money are the scammers.

Information on Charity Scams

Charity Scams take advantage of people's generosity and kindness by asking for donations to a fake charity or by impersonating a real charity. The scammers can approach you in many different ways—on the street, at your home, over the phone, or on the internet. Emails and collection boxes may be even marked with the logos of genuine charities.

Often, the scammer will exploit a recent natural disaster or humanitarian crisis that has been in the news. Other scammers play on your emotions by pretending to be from charities that help children who are ill. Scammers can try to pressure you to give a donation and refuse to provide details about the charity, such as their address or their contact details. In other cases, they may simply provide false information.

Not only do these scams cost people money; they also divert much needed donations away from legitimate charities and causes. All registered charities in Canada are overseen by the Canadian Revenue Agency and listed in its database <http://www.cra-arc.gc.ca/chrts-gvng/lstngs/menu-eng.html>. If the charity is genuine and you want to make a donation, get the charity's contact detail from the phone book or trusted website. If you do not want to donate any money, or you are happy with how much you may have donated to charities already, simply ignore the email or letter, hang up the phone, or say no to the person at your door. You do not have to give any money at all.

If a charity is offering to provide a tax receipt in an amount that is higher than your donation, recognize that this is an unlawful practice and report it.
